THURSDAY, MAY 10, 1900

THE SENATE WILL OPPOSE THE CANAL BILL.

The JOURNAL yesterday made a review of some of the leading features in the Nicaragua canal bill as compared with the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, including causes that might effect its passage in the Senate. Since writing the article referred to it is learned that the causes mentioned which would likely appear in opposition to the bill are present and active. The pro-British obstructionists in the Senate, directed by the President through Senator Hanna, will oppose the bill in that body until the treaty is ratified in its original form.

The Davis amendment must be stricken out and the treaty made binding as presented by the State Department. The administration, presumably by the direction of the government of Hanna, demands that the treaty be ratified by the Senate in its original form before the canal bill will be passed.

To enforce the command of Hanna it is said the Senate inter-oceanic canal committee will hold the bill if need be to prevent its passage at the present session of Congress. The administration, from appearances at this time, will go before the country at the next general election loaded with its schemes to imperialize the United States and make it subject to the will of imperial Britain, while the Monroe doctrine goes hunting for a resting place. There is not anything national or international in its character affecting any late policy of the government that is not in the line of imperialism.

THE PHILIPPINE WAR GOES ON.

Aguinaldo is again alive and at his old tricks, which is fighting for what he and his followers are pleased to term liberty. There is something in the name that has a charm for the human heart, if there is not anything in the substance that is covered with the name, or Aguinaldo and those of his countrymen who fight with and for him, would not continue the struggle for a shell dabbled with a name that too often deceives—but crimes will be committed in the name of liberty as long as crime is a part of the work of portions of the human family. It may be the Filipinos have concluded there is as much liberty represented in their efforts as there will be covered by the dominion of imperialistic power as applied to Porto Rico, which foreshadows the system that will be given for the government of the Philippines.

The war in the islands has taken on new vitality since the late application by Congress of imperial authority to Porto Rico. The first lesson given by Congress and the administration to the Filipinos is not of a character that gives assurance respecting the future of the Philippines. It is quite plain that McKinley and Congress are not in the least inclined to take instruction from anything that is said or done disapproving the policy that rules at Washington. There is in the course pursued a declaration by Congress and the government of Mark Hanna of an abiding confidence in the stupidity of the people.

THE CYCLONE.

The cyclone season is upon the middle west and south and the work of the twisters is reported as usual relating details of destruction to life and property. The causes of these disturbances are not ascertained except in a conjectural way. Were the causes made plain it would make very small difference to the sections they visit. A knowledge of their causes might lead to a means that would discover their presence which might aid threatened districts to avoid some of their consequences.

It is believed by many that these violent disturbances are attributable to causes that have developed in late years which are connected with the settlement and improvement of the countries in which they prevail, which is not correct as they existed in the same localities to which they seem to belong before there was any improvement in these countries. The writer when a boy in the far west, as then described, can now call to mind many markings made by cyclones in the native woods by broken and upturned trees in their pathways, which had been made before the foot of a white man had profaned the silent abodes and exclusive hunting grounds of the red man.

Yesterday the mercury reached high water mark for the season.

He Would Know More.

An exceedingly well dressed woman sat in an elevated railway car the other day, and opposite her was an elderly man. The woman got up to leave the car, and in the corner of the seat where she had been sitting the man spied a piece of black net. Jumping for it, he called out:

"Madam, you have left your veil."

As she took no notice of him he dashed down the aisle after her, and, touching her on the elbow again, said: "Madam, you have left your veil; at the same time holding it up in full view of all."

It was a frowsy, frayed, torn piece of black cotton net.

"It is not mine, sir!" she snapped out, giving him a withering look, and the obliging old man shrank back as if he had been jabbed with a hatpin, while the passengers grinned.

"Why was she so mad about it?" he asked in a dazed way as he laid the homely little rag on the window sill.

"I guess you never paid for a woman's finery," said another man.

"That's so," said the withered one in a hopeless tone. "I am a bachelor. Perhaps I'd know more if I'd married."

"You would that," said the other feebly.—New York Tribune.

The Old Man Had Changed.

A Lancaster county man once came to a Philadelphia portrait painter with a request that he paint a picture of his father. "Very well," said the artist; "have the old gentleman come in when next in town, and I will give him a sitting." The man replied: "He can't do that; he is deaf."

"Oh, well, then, you have a photograph of him?"

"No; I don't got no fotograff of him elder."

"Well, how do you expect me to paint the portrait of your father when I can't see him and have nothing to give me an idea of his appearance?"

"Vell," he replied, "I dinked, maybe I doft you about him you gan baint him from dot."

"All right," said the artist, "describe him."

"Vell, my fadder was not so dall und not so short; he was not fat und not so din." And so the honest fellow proceeded to describe his father as he remembered him.

The artist undertook to paint the picture, and in due course it is completed, and the Lancaster county man comes in to view the results of the artist's efforts. As the canvas is disclosed he gazes long and reverently upon the picture of his departed parent. Then he feebly remarks: "Yah, dot is mine fadder! Mine fadder vat I loafed so much! But, ach himmel, fadder, how you hav changed!"—Philadelphia Times.

A Kick Registered.

The duties of judges in a rhetorical contest are not usually attended by so much congratulation as criticism. The gentlemen who rashly consented to referee the contest last night met with the usual fate. Hear what some of the students authorize, or rather compel, the JOURNAL to say:

[COMMUNICATED.]

We, representatives of what we believe to be a majority of the student body, express ourselves as greatly disappointed at the decision rendered by the judges last night. In our opinion James Giles was entitled to a place in the delegation that will be sent to Salt Lake to represent the University of Nevada in the intercollegiate debate with the University of Utah.

Burton Arrives.

President Burton of the Electric Mining and Reduction company arrived from the East yesterday morning. Mr. Burton informed a JOURNAL reporter that extensive improvements would be made to the Reno reduction works, and that the establishment would soon be running at its full capacity.

A plant will be installed for the working of copper ore. The new Liberty system will be employed. If success is attained the works will soon be ready to handle thirty tons a day from the nearby mines.

To Represent the University in the Forensic Duel at Salt Lake.

FRIDAY NIGHT.

An able exposition of the art of oratory was given in the gymnasium last night. Eight students of the University mounted the platform and discussed their topics but ponderous theme in logical argument and titillation of foaming phrase.

The question argued was: "Resolved, that Expansion will be beneficial to the United States."

D. B. Acres, James Giles, Gustave Siehoff, C. Southworth, Miss Tillie Kruger, E. D. Lyman, F. A. Bonham and Pat McCarron were the speakers and contestants for the honor of representing their school in the debate which will take place in Salt Lake City.

Rev. F. Vernon Jones, Judge. B. F. Curier and Sardis Summerfield were judges of the debate.

All the speakers were warmly applauded, as was the just due of each.

When the judges retired to deliberate the audience were entertained with selections by the hotel band and concert solo by Richard Tobin.

The judges announced that P. A. McCarron was entitled to first honor. His contestants were named as Miss Tillie Kruger and Mr. Lyman. The alternates selected are Messrs. Siehoff, Bonham and Southworth.

The prize of $25 offered by the Alumni Association to the winner of the contest was presented. Mr. McCarron, Prof. McDowell also offered $15 and $10 respectively to the winners of second and third places.

Remarkable Cure of Rheumatism.

KENNA, Jackson Co., W. Va.

About three years ago my wife had an attack of rheumatism which confined her to her bed for over a month and rendered her unable to walk a step without assistance, her limbs being swollen to double their normal size.

Mr. S. Maddox insisted on my using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I purchased a fifty-cent bottle and used it according to the directions and the next morning she walked to breakfast without assistance in any manner, and she has had a similar attack since.—A. B. PARSONS.

There are two evils that are general throughout this State—the drunken Indians and the man that sells them whisky. Both are a danger to the community.

Hair Dressing Parlors Removed to Hartung Building.

Scalp treatment, shampooing, facial treatments, singeing and brushing the hair. Mrs. Adam's hair tonic used only tonic that stops falling of the hair. No agents employed to sell it. Open evenings.

The electors of Empire, Ormeby county, will vote on the proposition of raising $600 for school purposes by taxation, May 28th.

The Best in the World.

We believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best in the world. A few weeks ago we suffered with a severe cold and a troublesome cough. Having read their advertisements in our own and other papers we purchased a bottle to see if it would effect us. It cured us before the bottle was more than half used. It is the best medicine out for colds and coughs.—The Herald, Andersonville, Ind.

Frank Higgins, who was shot by Richard Tobin is improving steadily. He was able to walk about the yard yesterday, and unless some unforeseen complication intervenes, will be entirely well in the course of a few weeks.—Report.

In almost every neighborhood there is some one whose life has been saved by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, or who has been cured of chronic diarrhoea by the use of that medicine. Such persons make a point of telling of it whenever opportunity offers, hoping that it may be means of saving other lives. For sale by Wm. Pinniger.
